

Alexandria University participates in the Forum of Activities and Events of Egyptian Public Universities to Confront Climate Change 2022

Under the patronage of Dr. Ayman Ashour, Minister of Higher Education and Scientific Research, and under the supervision of the Supreme Council of Universities, Alexandria University participated in the Forum for Activities and Events of Egyptian Public Universities to Confront Climate Change 2022, in the period from (September 22-23, 2022) at the Galala Tulip Hotel in Ain Sokhon.

Prof. Abdel Aziz Konsowa, President of Alexandria University, indicated that the university participated in the forum's work with a set of research topics in the field of climate change and applied projects related to it, including the uses of green hydrogen and green ammonia in the fertilizer industry, the establishment of an energy and water services company, and the localization of the electric car industry within Egypt. And the role of the Suez Canal in reducing carbon emissions at the global level, and the establishment of the Alexandria University Center for the Greener Blue Economy, and the role of Egypt as a regional energy center and the establishment of the Alexandria University Center for Sustainable Development. He added that the forum discussed during its period all topics related to the climate change crisis and its repercussions on many... The main sectors in Egypt and the world and mechanisms for adaptation and mitigation, stressing the need for cooperation and support for scientific research in various environmental fields to confront the negative effects of climate change.

